Corporate Governance

Three of the nine-member Board of Directors of the Corporation are both outside and unrelated directors. Included therein are Messrs. Heagle, Sale and Taschereau. The board, supported by two committees, oversees the management of the Corporation and is responsible for maintaining the investment policy of the Corporation.

The Executive Committee is composed of four members, three of whom are outside directors, one being also an unrelated director. On February 24, 1997, the Audit Committee and the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee were combined to form the Audit and Corporate Governance Committee. The Committee is composed of four directors, all of whom are outside directors, and three of whom are unrelated. The responsibilities of this Committee may be broken down into two primary areas:

(1) Audit Responsibilities:

The Committee meets at least annually with management and the external auditors to discuss auditing matters and auditors' remuneration, the accounting system and related internal controls, the financial reporting process and financial risk management so as to satisfy itself that each party is properly discharging its responsibilities. The Committee also reviews the annual report and financial statements including the external auditors' report.

(2) Corporate Governance Responsibilities:

The Committee is responsible for developing the Corporation's approach to governance issues, proposing new nominees to the Board, assessing the effectiveness of the Board as a whole and assessing the contribution of individual Board members. The Committee meets independently of management from time to time or as necessary.
